Who should borrow a trunk?

Any educator, formal or non-formal, that is looking to bring learning to life, will find the tools and resources they need in one kit! In the classroom, the hands-on, interdisciplinary lessons are easy to integrate into an existing curriculum and fulfill many of the NJ Core Curriculum Content Standards. In the outdoors, students will be engaged in activities that expand their knowledge about the natural environment. So whether you are a school teacher, 4-H leader, Scout master or home school instructor, borrowing a Project Learning Tree trunk is right for you!

Wise use of the trunk

Based upon the Project Learning Tree Environmental Education program, the trunks include a binder of activities and supplemental information to lead you through each of the activities. Please take the time to review this binder before using the materials with your students.

All student pages, fliers and resource materials can be easily photocopied for distribution. Lessons from the PLT guide may not be duplicated, by copyright law.

Remember that this trunk is free to borrow, so please take care when using the materials. You will be held responsible for any items missing or broken upon return of the trunk.

When you are through with the trunk, please complete the evaluation form and return it to the PLT office.

How do I obtain a PLT Trunk?

There are trunks available throughout the state; we will match you with a trunk nearby. A trunk may not be immediately available in your area, so please list three periods of time when you would be interested in borrowing the trunk.
